F.A.I.T.H. is a 501c3 organization comprised of 30 religious congregations in Volusia County. Though F.A.I.T.H. congregations differ in their racial makeup, socio-economical status and theology, they stand united in their commitment to fulfill God's call to "do Justice". Unlike direct service agencies or "mercy ministries", F.A.I.T.H. does not work to help individuals with immediate needs. Rather, F.A.I.T.H. is a direct action organization made up of "Justice ministries" that work together to address the root cause of community problems by using the power of organized people to hold public leaders accountable for fair and just policy.

Mission Statement:

"We are an interfaith, Congregation-based Community Organization. Our member Congregations pledge to build powerful Justice Ministries within their own congregations and to work together to address the root causes of issues of injustice in Volusia County."
